

I'd like to correct two inaccuracies in an earlier comment of mine.

First, I said the Mr. Lelyveld was a Disney lawyer. He is actually a Disney vice-president.

Second, I said that DigitalConsumer's numbers could be extrapolated from the number of people mentioning it in comments. I was assuming that the example comment provided by DigitalConsumer made reference to DigitalConsumer, but it seems that it does not. Perhaps you could judge it by the number of people sending in comments similar to their example comment instead. Regardless, the number is not "2" as Mr. Lelyveld states.

Again, please do not provide government support or intervention for broadcast flag or similar measures. Thanks,

Baylis Shanks